1. Since the removal of Malenkov, what enthusiasm there was for Communist Party political activity has been diminishing, and since the visit of the Soviet delegation to Belgrade, attendance at Party meetings has dropped still further. Attendance at political indoctrination courses, despite strict supervision, hardly reaches an average of 50 percent. The Party is looking for new teachers for these courses, as most of the present teachers are quite inefficient. There is a striking reluctance among young people to join in Party life or join the Party. 25X1
2. A top official of the Bratislava Broadcasting Station was fired recently on the charge of advocating Slovak separatism. The new head is Vrabek (fnu), former deputy manager of the Prague Broadcasting Station.¹ 25X1

Comment: There is another deputy manager of the Prague Broadcasting Station of the same name. 25X1
